

MAY REDEEM THE NINTH DISTRICT

Strong Democratic Standard-Bearer Will Have the Opportunity of Years.

SLEMP WILL BE RENOMINATED

He Will Probably Carry Almost Full Vote of His Party.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WYTHEVILLE, April 28.—The Republican politicians are showing great activity within the past few days in paying poll-taxes to qualify their voters for the full election. About seventy-five voters sent in their poll-tax within the past three days by one party, and it is probable that greater activity will prevail during the few remaining days in which said taxes can be paid.

Notwithstanding the disaffection prevailing in the ranks of the Republican party in Bristol and other sections of the district against Slemph, his nomination is predicted if he wants it. It is estimated he will carry almost the full vote of his party.

Who the Democratic nominee will be cannot as yet be forecasted, but the indications are that when both candidates are in the field, and the political lines drawn there will be a battle royal. The Democrats with a strong standard-bearer, able to impress in a campaign of education the lessons of the past few years, have an opportunity which has not existed in the district since the party ceased to make its canvass on the Democratic issue of the tariff. If wisdom prevails in the councils of the party, and broad statesmanship takes the place of party politics, the district may be redeemed.

CONVENTION HALL WILL BE BUILT

here every two years. The climate would be as agreeable to all the athletes, for Richmond and Athens are in the same latitude, and the conditions surrounding the games would be better than in the Grecian city.

Mr. Meek points out that the Stadium could be used for all the athletic games, for circuses and great open air meetings, as well as for conventions.

He adds that such a building would draw the attention of the whole country to Richmond.

Temporary Structure at Once.

Another plan is to rent the large vacant square bounded by Jefferson, Main, Madison and Cary Streets and erect thereon a temporary convention hall to cost something like $20,000.

This building could be used by the Confederate Veterans, the Southern Baptist Convention and the Epworth League of America.

The fourth plan suggested is to utilize the Horse Show Building at the New Reservoir, converting the ring and walkways into an orchestra.

It is said that the building can be arranged to seat 8,000 people, which would be as large as any building that could be erected temporarily.

An objection raised to the Horse Show Building is its distance from the center of the city and the difficulty of reaching it by the street cars, especially during wet weather.

Mr. Northrup, one of the receivers of the Passenger and Power Company, which operates the street cars, is not very far from him to state positively what his company would do in the way of improving the Horse Show Building for a convention. He said, however, that he felt sure that the company would not object to the use of the building for a temporary convention hall.

For Permanent Hall.

Judge George L. Christian, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the last Confederate Reunion held in Richmond, said yesterday that he was in favor of a permanent convention hall.

"I do not know of any other place which Richmond so greatly needs as a permanent convention hall—some place which is large enough to hold great numbers of people. I am not in favor of a temporary building. It ought to be a permanent affair."

"When the last Confederate Reunion was held here, the temporary building cost $12,000 and seated 3,500. There were 80,000 Veterans and 800,000 Veterans in the city, but no building was large enough."

"The city spent $12,000 on that building, and it was worthless."

"I myself would not care to enter an immense hall that was hastily constructed for temporary occupancy."

Some time ago when we discussed the question of the Confederate reunion being held here in 1907, we had the street car people before us and they agreed to let us have the Horse Show building, and our idea was either to fix up that building or to convert the Third Market into a convention hall.

"We made no plans for a new building."

"I think the best location would be

CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS

Orline Treatment is to be Used at Home Without Publicity, or Loss of Time from Business.

Thousands of persons who really want to quit the use of whiskey or beer, realize that they cannot do so without medical help, yet they can not afford the time or perhaps the money to go to a sanitarium. Happily a new cure for drunkenness has been discovered, which can be taken at home and costs less than the average drinker will spend in a day. In using Orline there is absolutely no publicity, as the remedy is sold by the leading druggist in every city and town, or it can be sent by mail. Sure relief is positive when Orline is used. So uniformly successful is this treatment that in every box is a registered guarantee which entitles you to a refund of your money if Orline fails to effect a cure.

Orline is in two forms, No. 1, a secret remedy, absolutely tasteless and odorless which can be given in food or drink without the patient's knowledge; No. 2, in pill form for those who wish to be cured. The price either form is $1 a box. Send to The Orline Co., Washington, D. C., for free booklet and consultation blank.

The desire for liquor is soon destroyed after Orline treatment is commenced, and before long the patient is freed from the terrible craving, and the drink will not be missed.

Orline is for sale by the Polk Miller Drug Co. and the Polk Miller-Childrey Drug Co., Richmond, Va.

Owes Good Health to Pe-ru-na.

Miss L. Wall, 350 N. Dale Street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:
"Last spring I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach and bowels. I was very much rundown in strength and lost my appetite."
"I took three bottles of Peruna and found myself gaining very quickly in every way."
"I also had catarrh in my head, which has been entirely cured."
"I thank Peruna for the health I am enjoying."

The World's Greatest Medicine Factory.

The rapid growth of the Peruna Medicine Company is as phenomenal in the business world as the universal popularity of their famous remedy, Peruna. The plant covers a number of acres, and employs several hundred people. No other medicine firm in the world has done anything like the volume of business done by Dr. Hartman's firm.

Although Peruna is a proprietary medicine, the details of its compounding are in strict accordance with pharmaceutical discoveries, and nothing gives Dr. Hartman greater pleasure than to show his intimate professional friends through the laboratory where Peruna is made.

A Doctor's Prescription.

For years Dr. Hartman used Peruna in his private practice as a regular prescription. He has no thought of manufacturing it or advertising it as a proprietary medicine until there was a demand made upon him by his many friends, who clamored for the original prescription.

at the old Fair Grounds where the Hermitage Club now is, and I would suggest that the building be constructed of brick or some lasting material.

"I do not see how the city could afford to spend $300,000 on a building in the city, which would be used but once or twice a year."

"The building I propose should seat from 8,000 to 10,000 people, and would cost about $75,000."

"Face to Face With One's Past."

The men's meeting this afternoon will be the eighth of the great church meetings, and will be held at the Seventh Street Christian Church, Grace and Seventh Streets. Rev. Mr. Ashby Jones, who for over eight years has been pastor of Leigh Street Baptist Church, and is exceedingly popular with men, will be the speaker. This will be his last Sunday in Richmond, at least for the present. His theme will be one of intense interest to men, "Face to Face With One's Past." Two songs will be participated in by Leigh Street Baptist orchestra; Miss Annie Reinhardt, violinist, accompanied by Miss Richard; Mr. B. J. Coffman, cornet soloist. The meeting will be for men only, and all men are invited.

Mr. John Myers Dead.

Mr. Samuel Myers, who conducts a clothing establishment on Hull Street, Manchester, received a telegram last night announcing the death in Baltimore of his brother John, who was formerly a partner with his brother in Manchester. Mr. Myers, the message stated, was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis and died at the age of 50. Mr. Samuel Myers left for Baltimore with his sister on a late train last night.

Greatness of Out-of-Door People

The great peoples are out-of-doors peoples. Ancient Rome lived out of doors, and Gauls. Omnia. Great Britain was great when she had rushes on the floor and no glass at the windows—greatest in art and literature and war. She is great to-day only in her out-of-door colonies.

As for ourselves, we were greatest when our roofs leaked and we did not care; when we wore linsey woven under a tree, and ate hominy hulled upon a stump. That, after all, was our character-molding hundred-year. Nature sells you cheap the high-domed thinker or the amiable, blink-eyed slave, but she puts high price upon the red-topped savage, the brute, freckled, with voice that does not cackle. You may teach such a savage to think sufficiently, but you can not teach a mediocrity to be freckled or to cackle. What if Lewis and Clark had been indoor men? What if Washington, or Lincoln, or Roosevelt had been an indoor man? What if our industrial capitalists were recruited from indoor men? What if old Virginia had been an indoor land, or old Kentucky, or the old Plains? What if our birth as a nation had not been in the wind, under the trees, sanctified by the stars? What if America had not spent her youth in the out-of-doors? Why, then, she would not have been America, that is all—The Reader.

New Light on the Scriptures.

A former bishop of the Episcopal Church of Indiana once preached to a black congregation. At the conclusion of the discourse several of the negroes crowded about the preacher and asked him sermon, saying it was the best they had ever heard. One enthusiast exclaimed:

"Bishop, you tol us things we nevah knew befo'."

"Indeed," said the bishop, gratified at the praise, "What was it I told you that you never knew before?"

"Bout Sodom an' Gomorrah. Why, bishop, I always thought they was a man an' his wife,"—The Reader.

Miss LORETTA WALL
350 N. Dale St. St. Paul, Minn.

Followed Dr. Hartman's Advice. A Grateful Letter.

Mrs. Anthony Rauch, 438 Johnston Street, Bucyrus, Ohio, writes:
"I was suffering from obstinate constipation and torpid liver when I took your advice and purchased six bottles of Peruna and Manalin."

"When I had taken only one bottle I felt much better, and since I have taken two more bottles I feel entirely well, but I will continue taking the medicine for a short time to make sure of my cure."

"I think Manalin is one of the finest remedies for constipation that I ever tried. I will never be without it. It has made me so strong. I can do a day's work and never tire."

"I am so glad I do not get those dizzy spells any more. I haven't had one since I took your medicine."

"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. All sick people should give it a fair trial."

Pe-ru-na's Popularity.

Peruna is not like so many other remedies that pass away as soon as the first few bottles are used. The longer Peruna is used in any community, the more popular it becomes.

Pe-ru-na Actually Relieves.

The reason why Peruna has become a standard cathartic remedy the world over is simply because it eliminates catarrh.

Bit of Verse.

The Church-Belle.

'Twas not the preacher nor the choir,
Nor the supplications bland,
That lit Devotion's holy fire
Luring from their work-day moods
The adoring crowd of gentlemen.

Saint and sinner, old and meek,
Sat in bonnet, or in beard,
And sat about them once a week—
Their guileless hearts by beauty cheer'd
The adoring crowd of gentlemen.

'Twas not the church-bell's pealings long,
Nor the supplications bland,
Nor the sermon nor the song
That drew to worship the broad-cloth band—
The adoring crowd of gentlemen.

'Twas but the church-belle's sunny smiles,
Glancing goddess, coy and sweet,
With hymns and sermons in her smiles
That hured from many a fond retreat—
The adoring crowd of gentlemen.

The preacher smiled at the indented plate,
It was the sermon's due, thought he,
The church-belle smiled, and thought sedate,
Of hungered poor—lost one's over the sea—
The adoring crowd of gentlemen.

The hoary church wert an arid pile,
Because it wastes it; never throw your shells of soap away, but put them in a jar, fill up with water, put it in the oven, and let it boil well, with a lid over the top, and when the soap is all dissolved take it out and put it to cool, and you will be able to use it out; therefore you can use it again. It is useful for washing flannels.

Finds Relief in Pe-ru-na After Suffering Twenty Years

"Mrs. M. S. Davis, 1505 Buena Vista Street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:
"After having been a constant sufferer from catarrh for more than twenty years, and after trying almost every remedy advertised, and having lost all hope, I very reluctantly began the use of Peruna about two years ago."
"Everybody says I look younger now than I did twenty years ago, and I actually feel younger and better, and weigh more."
"I am recommending it to my neighbors and all with whom I come in contact."

Pe-ru-na Removes the Cause of Catarrh.

Peruna has no bad effects upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna had been used off and on for twenty years.

Revised Formula.

As now, when in my May of youth;
This my love assures.

Constant love is moderate ever,
And it will through life persevere;
Give me that with true endeavor—
I will it restore.
A suit of durance let it be
For all weathers—that for me—
For the land or for the sea;
Lasting evermore.

Winter's cold or summer's heat,
Autumn tempests on it beat;
It can never know defeat,
Never can rebel.
Such the love that I would gain,
Such the love, I tell thee plain,
Thou must give, or woo in vain,
So to thee—farewell!

THE HALF OPEN DOOR.

Cabinet Officer Ran Against It in the Night.

Washington is telling a story just now about a certain member of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet, a story amusing enough to be true, tho' it will fall under that category or things too good for words. It relates that the gentleman in question was not long ago called up at night by some unusual noise in the White House, and started to investigate without Danger in Local Catarrh Cures.

There are a great many catarrh cures in the world. The most of them are local applications. Few of them are to be used internally.

Unfortunately, a large number of these local catarrh remedies contain narcotics of some sort. Cocaine, opium and other narcotics are used. These remedies give temporary relief. The patient thinks he is getting better right away. But in a few weeks he discovers his mistake. Not only is his catarrh no better, but it is discovered he is using narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind.

Peruna is perfectly harmless, if taken according to directions on the bottle. So used, it can be taken any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

The Clerk's Problem.

This problem of mere living is the intimate, almost overwhelming one of the low grade clerk. He does not concern himself with the broader, and in the end more essential, problem of his mental and moral development, his mind. That is left in the hands of the mysterious gods, the public, whose responsibilities each individual is so ready to disavow. And yet it is for you, an educated member of the public body, to understand that your influence has a general as well as a personal import. That every courageous and conscientious assertion of conviction will benefit society as well as yourself. Notably these clerks are influenced by what they see on the streets, at the vaudeville show, in the newspapers and magazines; but managers and actors and editors, in this delightfully commercial civilization, are only too anxious to give the public, good or bad, what the public (i. e., you, its representative) pays for and thus approves.—The Reader.
